Representative Ellerbe a Poet.

Fowls Must Stay at Home.

owner of chickens, etc., must make them stay on his or her own premises. The penalty for violation of the ordinance is a fine of not more than $100 or imprisonment of not more than thirty days. If the law works well, and there is no reason why it shouldn't,

We have no reason why it shouldn't other municipalities had better follow Spartanburg's example. There's nothing more provoking and annoying than to have other peoples chickens "scratch up" one's garden. It is bad enough when one's own fowls commit

“What?” asks the maiden aunt.
“Going to marry that Mt. Newwun?”
Why, you hardly know the man, Imogene. In the few days you have been acquainted with him you cannot possibly have learned anything of his ...sister have learned anything of his family or antecedents or habits or personal circumstances." That is true, Aunt Keturah. But you have always told me that no woman who knows anything about a man will marry him. — Success.

Don't Seem to Want Business.
We were in Greenwood last Thursday. Walking along the streets we passed five stores and there was not a person in any of them doing any trading. We thought it was strange but upon investigation found that the stores are not properly advertised in the newspapers of the town and do not seem to want business. —Abbeville Medium.

In the case of W. G. Dye and Henry Gibson, charged with murder, the healthy look, puts the sap of life in your system, protects you from disease. Hoillater's Rocky Mountain Tea has no equal as a spring tonic for the whole family. See Tea or Tablets J. J. Stringfellow.

Joseph Wylie & Comp'y

Every distillery except one in southern Missouri, which is in eighteen counties, has been forced to "shut out" by the spread of prohibition, which has been especially the cause in the southern part of the state to become dry. In the last year, 1906, the revenue from the sale of whisky was $1,000,000.
